Exhibitor Opportunities

Welcome Prospective Exhibitors

The Consortium for Medical Marijuana Clinical Outcomes Research (the Consortium) is delighted to extend the opportunity to exhibit at its fifth conference: the Cannabis Clinical Outcomes Research Conference (CCORC), held in-person on May 29-30, 2025, with virtual attendance options available.

With a focus on learning and sharing the latest MMJ research findings, CCORC aims to advance our understanding of the clinical effects of medical marijuana. The conference gathers researchers, physicians, and medical marijuana industry leaders to promote scientific exchange through an engaging program including an exhibit hall, keynote speakers, panel discussions, workshops, networking events, and poster sessions.

About the Consortium for Medical Marijuana Clinical Outcomes Research

The Consortium for Medical Marijuana Clinical Outcomes Research, founded by the state of Florida legislature, conducts, disseminates, and supports research on the clinical effects of medical use of marijuana.

Composed of ten universities in the state of Florida, the Consortium works to enhance the evidence on the safe and effective use of medical marijuana to inform clinical decision-making and guide policy.
